13TH TURKIYE ENERGY SUMMIT WILL BE HELD IN ANKARA BETWEEN NOVEMBER 27th and 29th, 2023

The 13th Turkiye Energy Summit, which has become traditional as the "Biggest Family Gathering" of the Turkish energy market, will be held at JW Marriott Hotel Ankara on November 27-29, 2023. Organized by Enerji Fuarcilik Inc. with the main theme "Energy for Peace" this year, the summit will bring together public and private sector representatives. As the first and only organization that gathers electricity, natural gas, fuel, LPG and sustainable energy markets under a single roof, the topics of this year's Turkiye Energy Summit will include current issues and future projections regarding these markets, energy security in our country and the region, and the interaction between regional geopolitical developments and energy markets.

Organized for the 13th time this year, the Turkiye Energy Summit will take the pulse of the energy sector as it does every year. Turkiye's strategic role in global energy markets, potential energy resources, and the present and future of energy investments will be discussed on November 27-29, 2023 in Ankara with the main theme of "Energy for Peace".

This year's Summit will also feature a special session by the Atlantic Council's Turkey Center; Atlantic Council IN TURKEY. The Atlantic Council is a leading Washington, D.C.-based global think tank. The Atlantic Council IN TURKEY, aims to promote dialogue with the region and strengthen transatlantic engagement through research, programming and high-level discussion forums addressing critical issues in energy, economics, migration and security as Council 's one of the Centers.

Pre-opening session of the Summit will be held on November 27th with special presentations on the energy and economic outlook of our country and the world, and the main theme of the Summit, "Energy for Peace".

Particular topics, that will be addressed through sessions, special presentations and speeches will be Electricity, Natural Gas, Fuel and LPG Markets of Turkiye, New Technologies such as Energy Storage and Digitalization, Electric Vehicles and the Future of Charging Technologies, Future Outlook in Thermal and Nuclear Energy, Financing Energy Investments, Energy Transformation and Renewable Energy, Carbon and Emissions Markets, Hydrogen Technologies and Market Development, Energy Security and Regional Developments, Women in the Energy Sector, and Careers in Energy.

The 13th Turkiye Energy Summit, which will continue for three days, plays the role of a driving force by facilitating dialogue on the problems and solutions of the energy sector with the most competent participants and by supporting the progress of the sector.
